

Anastasios Papadonikolakis, MD PhD

Graduation Year: 2011

Current position: Assistant Professor, Wake Forest University, Winston Salem, NC, USA

We spend most of time at home with our son, and two Italian Greyhound dogs – Louie and Capri. Occasionally, we travel to the West Coast as we do like adventures. Our last trip was to the Yosemite National Park and Lake Tahoe. I continue to do some extreme mountain biking on my downhill bike and my wife asks me to “be careful”. When I have free time I paint and hopefully one day I will host an art show with my oil paintings-see below paintings of Louie and Capri. I have realized that I can be motivated and do good only in 2 out of 3 things in life due to time limits. Those three things are:

1. Family
2. Clinical duties
3. Research. I am alternating those...

Capri

Louie

Downhill MB

My son, Alexander

Santorini Island, Greece 2017